THREE WORLD'S RECORDS FELL TODAY.

Barney Oldfield Breaks Record for Two Miles and Kilometer, Also the Stock Car Record for One Mile.

Chalmers-Detroit Wins the Handicap, Pope-Hartford The Free-For-All Stock Chassis.

(By James B. E. Bush, of the Hearst Syndicate.)

The second day of the speed carnival was favored with beautiful weather. Flavored with gentle zephyrs from the southeast. Early in the morning the weather prophets feared rain, but Old Sol came out in all his resplendent beauty and crowds surged to the beach from early in the morning until a few minutes before the race started.

Five events including trial for the mile record, two mile a minute race, ten miles Florida championship, ten miles free for all, open to stock chassis and a ten mile handicap race, were listed. The spectators were eager for the handicap race as yesterday the first seven cars finished within forty seconds, and Allen H. Whiting arranged the handicaps to perfection.

George Robertson arrived back in town last night and piloted the Chrysler car this morning. Most of the drivers were on the beach early tuning up. One new entry was noticed today—a Buick car belonging to Commodore J. H. Allen was listed.

Two wires were strung on the timing device mechanism to insure their working today. Atmospheric conditions were given the credit for the failure of the device yesterday.

The first event started was the one mile straightaway for the world's championship. George Robertson with the Christie car made the first trial and covered the mile in 30 and 34-100 seconds.

Oldfield, with the record holding Benz came down the beach next and only succeeded in doing the mile in 24 2-5 seconds. The Benz was traveling at a good rate, but Oldfield was not getting the most out of his car, it appeared. A second trial was made in 32 18-100 seconds.

Oldfield next took the six cylinder Knox and made a mile trial to establish a mile record for stock cars, doing it in 40 35-100 seconds.

George Robertson with the Christie car made a second mile trial and done it in 32 and 36-100 seconds. The car did not work so well and the time was slower than the previous trial.

It was then announced that Barney Oldfield would make a trial for the kilometer record held by Hemmery who made a record of seven hundred and seven hundred sixty-one thousandths seconds with the "Lightning Benz" at Brooklands, England. Oldfield made the first trial but did not go, coming back to make another start. On the second trial the car was working better and he covered the kilometer in seventeen and four hundredths seconds, breaking the world's record.

The breaking of the record was no surprise, as Oldfield was traveling at a furious pace when he passed the starter. The old record for the beach was held by Marriott who covered a kilometer in eighteen and two fifths seconds with a Stanley steamer in 1906. The rate of speed at which the car was traveling was not as fast as when the mile record was broken last Wednesday.

The Florida championship was the first stock event run. One start was made before Oldfield broke the kilometer record, but Bond with the Stearns had trouble and did not go the five mile point coming back to the starting line; Grosjean with the Pope-Hartford came in, having covered the ten miles in nine minutes and fifty-three and 40-100 seconds. Bond again had trouble.

Following the finish of the Florida Championship stock event, it was announced that Barney Oldfield would make a trial for the two mile record held by Demeg, who made a record of two miles in 58 and 4-5 seconds in a Darracq in 1906, on the beach.

Oldfield started up the beach and was flying, when he came down to spring the trap for the two miles.

When it was announced that Oldfield had broken the record for two miles, again not much surprise was expressed, as Oldfield was traveling at a fast pace. This was the third record that has been broken by Oldfield, and the spectators seemed to become accustomed to it. A royal welcome was given to Oldfield when he returned to the grand stand from his magnificent performance. George Robertson essayed to make a trial, but stalled shortly up from the judges' stand.

The ten miles handicap was next started with seven entries. The Autman Hudson and Allen's Buick started six and a half minutes from the scratch. The Chalmers "30" had five minutes and twenty-five seconds, the Chalmers "40," twenty minutes and thirty seconds, Barney Oldfield with the Knox one minute and thirty seconds, and Ben Kerschher with the hundred horse power Darracq started at scratch.

W. E. Davis with the Chalmers "30" won the race; Grosjean with the Pope-Hartford was second, Oldfield with the Knox was third, Orndorff with the Chalmers "40" was fourth, Ben Kerschher with the Darracq was fifth, Allen's Buick was sixth and Autman's Hudson was last. The actual running time of the winner was twelve minutes and thirteen seconds for the ten miles, slower than yesterday.

The last event of the day was the ten mile free-for-all open to stock chassis. Harry Orndorff with a Chalmers "40" and Barney Oldfield with the six cylinder Knox were the only contestants. At the start it was an even break, both cars getting away splendidly and fast disappeared in the distance.

On a close finish Barney Oldfield nosed out and Orndorff was a close second. The time, eight minutes, forty-one seconds.

The races tomorrow will start promptly at eleven o'clock, the same hour as today. Low tide will be at 12:43 p. m.

Tomorrow speed trials will start promptly, to be followed by a match race, a handicap, and the big $5000 W. B. Corset Trophy race.

ELKS ENJOY A VERY PLEASANT MEETING.
MANY VISITING MEMBERS PRESENT AND A ROYAL FEAST ENJOYED BY ALL.

Daytona Lodge No. 1141 B. P. O. Elks enjoyed a very pleasant social session at their club rooms last night. A large number of Elks from all over the United States were present and the local members turned out in large numbers.

A tempting luncheon was spread after the routine business was transacted. The lunch consisted of a generous supply of the real southern style chicken pillean, cheese, crackers, rye bread and the usual drinkables to be found at all occasions of this kind. That all enjoyed the repast was evidenced by the rapidity with which the dishes were emptied and refilled.

Daytona Lodge has an enviable reputation for its entertainments and visiting Elks usually make it a point to attend the sessions when here.

This lodge is growing rapidly and a number of candidates are on the waiting list for initiation.

A POST CARD SHOWER FOR DR. A. J. PERKINS.

Dr. A. J. Perkins of North Ridgewood avenue, was 76 years old last Sunday. His friends in his old home town, Plainfield, Ill., gave him a postal card shower in recognition of his 76th birthday, and nearly one hundred cards have been received by him besides the numerous letters of congratulation from friends in various parts of the country.

The Plainfield Enterprise has this to say in regard to the Doctor: "If all the Plainfield people, who have in years ago, basked in Dr. Perkins' genuine and generous philanthropy send him a card, the post office at Daytona, Fla., will look as if a tidal wave had come in off the ocean and landed in the lap of Uncle Sam."

Dr. Perkins has a host of friends in Daytona who appreciate his many fine qualities and genial disposition which like good wine, mellows with age, and unite with his Plainfield friends in wishing him many happy returns of his birthday anniversary.

MR. AND MRS. PERKINS GIVE A BOAT PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Perkins of No. Ridgewood avenue, on Monday entertained a number of friends with a boat party to New Smyrna. Those participating in the enjoyments of the day were Mr. and Mrs. Barr and two sons of Plainfield, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Findlay, Palmetto avenue, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Price, Second avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Williamson, South Ridgewood, besides the host and hostess and their little daughter, Lucile, and her grandfather, Dr. A. J. Perkins. The excursionists, which also included a number of guests from Ivy Lane, went across to Coronado Beach on a fishing trip and met with fine success, bringing home several handsome catches of sheephead.

RECOVERS HANDBAG THAT WAS STOLEN LAST WEEK.
STOLEN HANDBAG BUT MONEY IS GONE.

In regard to the robbery committed last Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hullett, on North Ridgewood avenue, while no light has been thrown on the perpetrator, the handbag stolen from Miss Mary Warner, a guest of the house, was found in a neighboring yard, the afternoon following the robbery.

Mrs. W. L. Reynolds, who is occupying her house on First avenue with her daughters this winter, while busied in the back yard Friday afternoon chanced to cast her eye under the house and just at the end of the sill saw something which proved to be the handle of the hand bag. She had not heard of the robbery and was very much mystified. She took it over to a neighbor who was able to identify it, and it was returned to the owner. It contained a pocket knife, handkerchief and gloves, in fact all the original contents save the money.

In this connection the following story from Mrs. Reynolds is of interest: The night of the robbery at Hullett's Mrs. Reynolds chanced to be spending the evening alone at her own home, her daughters having gone out to some entertainment. A little after nine o'clock she heard a stealthy step on the back steps followed by a noise as if some one was trying to scale the lattice to the second floor. She was much alarmed and made a loud noise by pounding on the back door of the sitting room where she was reading. There was a rattling of tin (some tin cans left in an empty barrel) and all was still. She awaited in dread until the young ladies returned home, but the party evidently had been frightened away. After finding the handbag the family are of the opinion that the porch climber who burglarized the Hullett house came across lots with the intention of making another haul.

A CHARTER PARTY ENJOY OUTING UP THE TOMOKA

A congenial party of friends, tourists, residents and hotel guests, chartered the Floridian for an all-day trip up the Tomoka yesterday. Those enjoying the occasion were, Mr. and Mrs. John Young and daughter, Miss Young, Robert Young and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Bryden, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Burden and Mr. and Mrs. Radley. The bright day, the beauty of the scenery, the alligators sunning themselves along the banks of the streams, and last but not least the bountiful and appetizing luncheon spread at the Tomoka cabin, made up a full day of enjoyment for the participants.

PRESIDENT TAFT CONCLUDES HIS BANQUETING TOUR.

WASHINGTON, March 23—After a week of traveling, banqueting and speech making, President Taft today resumed his White House work.

According to a special order from the adjutant General's office, Capt. N. H. Clark and Lieut. T. O. Melton have been relieved and Lieut. C. A. Gontz placed in command of Company K, Second Infantry, N. G. F., of this city, pending the issuance of a commission to Sergeant L. J. Cowan, recently elected to the captaincy of the company.

All members of the company are commanded by Lieut. Gontz to present themselves at the Armory next Friday night at 8:00 o'clock and turn over all property in their possession belonging to the State.

TOM L. JOHNSON SAILS FOR EUROPE TODAY.

NEW YORK, March 23—Tom L. Johnson, former mayor of Cleveland, whose health was broken as a result of the recent municipal campaign in which he was defeated, after serving four terms, sailed for Europe today on the steamer Mauritanian, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fells, of Philadelphia, whose London home he will visit. He will be examined by specialists regarding his malady, which is being kept secret.

None of the members of the family were present at the pier, as all are bitterly opposed to the trip. Johnson says his health is strong enough for the trip and he will rest up in Europe and on his return to this side will again enter politics.

THE MASQUERADE BALL ATTRACTING ATTENTION.

The masquerade ball to be given at the Armory tomorrow night is attracting considerable attention and will no doubt be largely attended particularly as a percentage of the proceeds will revert to the fund for the improvement of the City Island.

Stores carrying masquerade goods are displaying them in their windows and young people in the city, particularly, are discussing the ball and making preparations for a good time. Prizes will be given to both the lady and gentleman wearing the most attractive costumes.

RETURNED FROM PLEASANT AUTOMOBILE TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens and niece, Miss Harry, returned Monday from their trip across country by motor car. They had a most delightful five days' outing. They made their headquarters at the Orange City hotel, Orange City, from which point they visited Deland, Enterprise and Glenwood. They were especially interested in the big poultry farm at Enterprise. At this farm there are 3500 layers, from which there is an average of 1000 eggs gathered daily. The owner makes a specialty of the white leghorns, pure bred only are allowed on the farm. Mr. Stevens enjoyed the driving as the roads were in good condition and the weather all that could be asked.

SENATOR CONTINUES TO IMPROVE.

SPOKE DISTINCTLY SEVERAL TIMES LAST NIGHT, ASKING A FEW QUESTIONS.

Senator John W. Daniel's condition continues to show improvement, as will readily be seen by the official bulletin issued this morning by Doctors W. C. Chowning and C. C. Bohannon.

The bulletin is as follows: "Senator Daniel had a restless night and spoke distinctly several times, asking a few questions. At this time (8:00 a. m.) his pulse temperature, respiration and nourishment continue satisfactory."

LADIES' READING CIRCLE LUNCHEONS ON THE BEACH.

The members of the Ladies Reading Circle held a luncheon Tuesday at the beach cottage of Mrs. L. O. Rawson, and enjoyed a very pleasant time together, with the added attraction of the races on the beach.

The gathering partook somewhat of the nature of a farewell party as Mrs. Rawson leaves today for New York, from which city she will sail for Europe in about three weeks, accompanied by Colonel and Mrs. Huston, who will join her shortly in New York.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN MASSACHUSETTS YESTERDAY.

WASHINGTON, March 23—The defeat of Buchanan, Republican, by Foss, Democrat, in the fourteenth Congressional District in Massachusetts yesterday is causing considerable commotion here. The Democrats predict a Democratic house the next session. Republicans although disturbed say the defeat of Buchanan was caused by local conditions and will have no national influence.

MEETS DEATH IN AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

WASHINGTON, March 23—In an automobile accident in the suburbs north of this city today, Mrs. H. J. Slocum, wife of Major Slocum of the Seventh Cavalry stationed at Governor's Island, was killed and General Franklin Bell, chief of staff in the United States Army was slightly injured.

The machine in which they were riding was struck by an interurban car, near the army post, and completely demolished. Mrs. Slocum died within fifteen minutes. The chauffeur was uninjured.

It is supposed that the chauffeur attempted to cross the track ahead of the car and misjudged the distance. The motorman, conductor and chauffeur have been arrested.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.
Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon this beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms;
see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamons forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.
No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another, so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering,
"What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.
Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting, miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,
—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Frut.
Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round you are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid
And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which for beauty, prolificacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you.
The Fastest Autos and The Finest Out.

The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbukto, and you will be "shown."
Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade, and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene.

Everything goes, from a 2-horse power, up to a 200-horse power, and all degrees of speed from acanter to a two-mile-a-minute clip. You will probably catch the spirit, when you do the roads and the beach are yours.
The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down into your wallet only for coin for auto, and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

THE DAYTONA DAILY NEWS

Published every evening, except Sunday, from December 1 to April 1, by THE GAZETTE-NEWS CO., T. E. FITZGERALD, Editor-Manager, C. E. HARRIS, City Editor, Geo. F. CROUCH, Superintendent.

Entered as second-class matter December 1, 1909, at the post office at Daytona, Florida, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Owing to the Easter holidays the public schools at this place will not open until Monday.

J. H. Rafferty, general passenger agent for the G. S. & F. Ry., returned to Jacksonville this morning. Mr. Rafferty was in the city for a few days looking up business for his road.

W. S. Hart, prominent orange grower and arapist of New Smyrna, was a Daytona visitor today, coming up by boat, with a party of friends, to see the automobile races.

C. C. McCoy left this morning on his return to La Porte City, Iowa, business necessitating his return. Mrs. McCoy and little daughter will remain for several weeks longer with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Hinsky, and family at The Pines on South Ridge-wood avenue.

CHANGED HIS MIND

AFTER HANDCUFFS ON

One big bruiser and several smaller ones, refused to get off the beach this afternoon and defied the deputies. Sheriff Smith soon arrived on the scene and politely asked the trespassers to get behind the wires. The big fellow talked a few words saucy, but before he got many words out of his mouth the sheriff had a He then begged to be allowed to get pair of handcuffs attached to him, off the beach, and his followers took to the sand dunes.

HONORS TO BE SHOWERED

ON COLONEL ROOSEVELT.

LONDON, March 23—No crowned head was ever shown such honors as those in preparation for Colonel Roosevelt in all European capitals, despite Colonel Roosevelt's desire to be received as a private citizen. England believes that Roosevelt will be the next president of the United States.

OXFORD DEFEATS CAMBRIDGE

ON RIVER THAMES TODAY

LONDON, March 23—Oxford defeated Cambridge today by three and a half lengths in the sixty-seventh annual boat race on the Thames. The course was four half miles, Putney to Moulme. After the first mile the result was certain for the favorite Oxford. Time, twenty minutes and fourteen seconds, behind record.

Cambridge led the first mile but never afterwards. Oxford men were much stronger than Cambridge who looked overtrained.

JACK JOHNSON, PUGILIST,

GOES TO JAIL TODAY.

NEW YORK, March 23—Jack Johnson, the pugilist, who is to meet Jeffries in the ring in July was today remanded to the custody of the sheriff in default of five thousand dollars bail, subject to call for trial from any part of the country when Norman Pindar, the complaining witness against him in the assault case is found.

Justice Mulgreen says an attempt has been made to trifle with bench warrants issued for witnesses. Attorney Nugents is seeking bail for Johnson.

It cures the Itch instantly. WE KNOW this. Atwood Pharmacy.

The Wall Street Game.

The burning question on Wall street is always whether stocks will go up or down. If any man were able to answer it correctly he could make himself a millionaire in a day, but speculation is neither a fortune telling nor a gambling game, and the man who believes otherwise is bound to lose his money and to join the ranks of the disconsolate, disgusted and depleted who make the outcry against the evils of Wall street, says Leslie's Weekly.

The winner in Wall street is gifted with the same business characteristics that bring success in any line of enterprise. He utilizes them in buying and selling stocks, just as he would if he were engaged in merchandizing. He knows, for instance, that prosperous conditions are reflected by what are called the bank exchanges, by railway earnings, the record of failures, the condition of the iron market, the balance of trade and especially the outlook for the crops.

Baked Cheese Omelets.

Baked cheese omelets are most appetizing and may be prepared in several ways. A good recipe calls for a pint of milk, four large eggs, one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one of butter and a teaspoonful of salt. Let the milk heat on the stove until it reaches the boiling point. Beat the butter and flour to a cream and gradually mix it with the hot milk, taking care that no lumps form. Cook the mixture for five minutes. Let it cool and add the egg after beating the yolks and the whites separately. The whites should be beaten to as stiff a froth as possible. Pour the omelet into a buttered dish, sprinkle the top with grated cheese and fold some of the cheese through the omelet. The more cheese used the better. Let the omelet bake for half an hour or until it is solid, so that it will not "run" when dipped out with a spoon. It should bake in a hot oven.—New York Tribune.

Corn, Oats and Wheat as "Seeds."

School children in the crowded part of New York do not speak of corn and oats and wheat by those names, but always refer to them as "seeds." The other day in one of the big schools the teacher was talking to her pupils about gardening. She ended with a request for each pupil to bring a few seeds the next day to be planted in the window boxes. The following morning the children appeared mostly with either oats, wheat or corn. While putting a few grains of each in the earth the teacher referred to them by their familiar names. One of the girls in the class took courage to "set the teacher right" and said: "Some one must 'a' told you wrong, teacher. That," pointing to the wheat, "is bread seed, and that yellow stuff ain't corn; it's pigeon seed. We always call them that in the block where we live."—New York Sun.

Poser for the Husband.

Returning home from Atlantic City, a Frankford man drew a photograph carefully from his pocket and showed it to his wife. Said he, "There's a man who's in love with you."

It was not a good picture, one of those cheap plugpung photographs. The husband had not been in a condition to be well "taken," and there was little likeness. His wife looked at the picture for several minutes, very much puzzled. Finally she spoke up: "Why, it's Jim! Where did you see him? And where did you get this? And what did he tell you?"—Philadelphia Times.

To Tame Him.

"So you're going to introduce baseball among the prisoners? I don't approve. What will become of discipline?"

"If a man gets too obstreperous," replied the warden confidently, "we'll make him umpire."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Where Authority Ends.

"Rogers is a born leader of men. Thousands of them would follow him into the jaws of death."

"Yes, but he can't make his two-year-old boy so much as sit in a chair."—Harper's Bazar.

A Long Minute.

"I'll be ready in a minute," she said to her husband.

"You needn't hurry now," he called up some time later, "I find that I shall have to shave again."—Detroit Free Press.

No, Indeed.

"You Americans say we 'ave no 'umor," said the loyal Britisher, "but I'll 'ave you understand, sir, that Henglish jokes are not to be laughed at!"

Sure to Be Prejudiced.

Friend—Don't look so blue. You have a good case.

Jimson—No use. I'll lose; I know I'll lose. Every man on that jury either rented or bought a house of me when I was in the real estate business. —New York Weekly.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

OPEN YOUR WINDOWS!

Some very interesting experiments are being made at the State Agricultural college of Missouri.

For instance: There are in the whole world at present just seventeen cows that give 700 pounds of butter or more per year. Five of these seventeen are at this college.

How those cows must be pampered, you say. And you have visions of warm, sanitary stalls in a beautiful barn.

That is where you are mistaken. All the winter long, except during very severe storms, they spend the day in the open fields.

Another experiment: This one was made in fattening beef cattle. One bunch was put into a shed entirely open at one end; one bunch was put into the open; a third bunch was kept in a fine, warm barn.

The cattle in the open fields, staying there day and night, thrived best. Of course they ate more food to combat the cold, but they gave more beef per pound of feed than the others.

What I want to emphasize is this: If the healthiest, thriftiest cattle are brought up in the open fields, how can human beings, who need oxygen just as much as cows do, hope to thrive by cooping themselves up and keeping the fresh air out?

The point of the observation is in the answer.

The other morning, in order to catch an early train, I walked downtown. In traversing the streets for nearly two miles I kept a lookout for open windows.

How many? Just two! Most of these people not only kept their windows tightly closed during the night, but worked all day in closed offices or shops.

And lest they should get a breath of pure oxygen they rode to their work in street cars containing foul air superheated by a hot stove.

They know better, most of them.

One could almost wish that persons who so deliberately violate this requirement of well being might be taken by civilization and forced into the open air as the Missouri college controls its cattle.

Some wait until they get tuberculosis and then woo the pure air for a cure. And Nature is kind enough, even when her free offerings of oxygen have been spurned, to come with healing in her wings.

Is there a lesson in all this for you, misguided one?

Think of the experiments with the Missouri prize cattle, and—

Open your windows!

The Hat.

The modern hat can be traced back to the petasus worn by the ancient Romans when on a journey, and hats with brims were also used by the earlier Greeks. It was not until after the Roman conquest that the use of hats began in England. A "hat of biever" about the middle of the twelfth century, was worn by one of the nobles of the land. Fraissort describes hats and plumes which were worn at Edward's court in 1340, when the Garter order was instituted. The merchant in Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" had on his head a Flandish beaver hat, and from that period onward there is frequent mention of "felt hattes."

There Was No Duel.

Colonel Crisp when in the Missouri legislature was one of the central figures in a scene which promised blood shed, which ended in a hearty laugh and which was the cause of an astounding remark from Hon. John W. Farriss, the then speaker, said Champ Clark. Crisp and another member got into a debate which grew into a quarrel. They shook their fists at each other and roared like a pair of Numidian lions. Everybody expected and many hoped to see a regular old fashioned knockdown and dragout fight, which expectation and hope were frustrated and dashed to the ground by Speaker Farriss remarking:

"If you gentlemen do not quit fussing and take your seats I will order the chaplain to take you into custody," which so amazed the bellicose legislators that they stood in a state of lingual paralysis, while the spectators laughed till they were red in the face. Humor saved the day.

How He Helped the Blind.

"Please help a blind man," said a fellow with green goggles as he held a tin cup toward the line of people issuing from the Union depot. "I always help the blind," said one of two young men who were passing, and he stopped and took out a five dollar bill. "Can you get a quarter out of this?" "I guess so," said the blind man, fishing out a handful of change and counting out $4.75. "Well, John," said the benevolent young man's companion as they walked on, "you're a bigger fool than I took you to be." "Am I?" said John. "Yes, you are. That fellow's no more blind than I am. How could he tell that was a five dollar bill?" "Blamed if I know," said John innocently, "but he must be mighty near sighted not to see that it was a counterfeit."—Chicago News.

Settled the Difficulty.

An insurance agent had vainly tried to persuade a man to insure his valuables against burglary. "A safe's all very well," he admitted, "but look at the constant trouble of locking up and unlocking to see if your things are all right."

"I've got over that difficulty," declared the weary listener.

"Indeed!" said the agent incredulously. "How?"

"I've had a window put in the safe," growled the other.

An Indiscreet Memory.

The Hostess—Don't you think Colonel Broadside is quite a wonderful old man? Look at him. He is as straight and slender as an arrow, and he has the most wonderful memory. The Lady of Dubious Age—I think he's an atrocious old bore. He remembers when everybody was born.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Poor Dogs!

Returned Explorer—Yes; the cold was so intense at the pole we had to be very careful not to pet our dogs. Miss Youngthing—Indeed! Why was that? Returned Explorer—You see, their tails were frozen stiff, and if they wagged them they would break off.—Boston Transcript.

Henty's Young Critic.

G. A. Henty, the writer for youth, frequently got letters from admirers all over the world asking for his autograph and offering criticisms of his books. In a story of the peninsula war he made two boys disguise themselves by staining their faces with iodine. Shortly after the book was published he received a letter from a boy, who said he was a chemist's assistant, stating that while that special incident was represented, as taking place in 1808 iodine was not discovered until 1811, three years after.

When Curates Were Wanted.

When one learns that curates are increasing so much more rapidly than benefices, wonder is excited as to the condition of affairs in the eighteenth century, when enterprising ladies offered livings to clergymen willing to marry them. An advertisement to this effect appeared in the London Chronicle in March, 1758. The lady was rather particular too. The curate was to be young, have a small fortune, be well recommended as to morals and good temper "and be firmly attached to the present happy establishment." The living was not rich—below £100 per annum—but the fair one was young and agreeable. There seems a touch of humility in the direction that answers "may be left at the bar of the Union Coffee House, Strand, directed to Z. Z." Confidence was created by the assurance that "the utmost secrecy and honor may be depended upon."—London Chronicle.

England's Old Common Field System.

A "common field" is quite distinct from a "common." It is a field belonging to numerous owners. The land consists of long narrow strips, perhaps not more than ten yards wide and running parallel with one another. What are the exact rules of cultivation that obtain in Kent today we do not know, but of old it was usual to have a regular rotation, such as wheat one year, barley or oats the second and fallow the third. When the crops were harvested, each member of the community getting his or her share, all could put in their cattle, which roamed over the whole field, feeding on the stubble, etc. And this was termed the "right of sack." The "common field" system was gradually done away with by statutes in the reigns of George III. and William IV.—London Express.

A Matter of Punctuation.
The following literary effusion is not ungrammatical. Its peculiarity lies in a lack of punctuation. Moreover, it contains the word "that" repeated five times in succession:
That man wrote, that are correct to say that that that that man wrote is correct is incorrect these are correct is correct.
The paragraph should read:
That man wrote, "That are correct." To say that that "that" that that man wrote is correct is incorrect. "These are correct" is correct.
A Question of Salutations.

"Goodby," said the dilatory youth--Cleveland Plain Dealer.
A Domestic Convenience.
Garson--Have you hot water in your house? De Long--Yes; my wife's mother lives with us.

Number of Nails to a Horseshoe.
Centuries ago there lived a farrier, Walter le Brun by name, whose dexterity at the anvil on the occasion of a great tilting meeting on the banks of the Thames was noticed by the then reigning monarch, Edward III., who rewarded the blacksmith by granting him sufficient land adjoining the tilting green for the erection thereon of a forge. As quit rent he had to present annually to the king six horseshoes and sixty-one horseshoe nails. To the modern mind the number of nails would appear to be superfluous, but when it is remembered that the horseshoes of that period required ten nails apiece it will be seen that the calculations of Edward III. merely allowed one over in case of accident. Furthermore, the shoes were all to be for the horse's fore feet, from which fact some historians draw the inference that the animals ridden in the knights' tournaments were encouraged to injure each other with their front hoofs.--London News.

"Correct to a T."
Our earliest quotation for this or for the kindred phrases "to suit one to a T," "to fit to a T," "to know one to a T," is of 1693. Can any one help us to an earlier example? No one of our many instances throws any light upon its origin. A current obvious conjecture would explain "a T" as meaning "a T square," but to this there are various objections. We have no evidence as yet that the name "T square" goes back to the seventeenth century and no example of its being called simply "a T," and in few if any of our instances would the substitution of "a T square" for "a T" make any tolerable sense. The notion seems rather to be that of minute exactness, as it were "to the minutest point." But the evidence is mainly negative. If examples can be found of "T square" before 1700 or of its reduction simply to "T" or of earlier examples of "to a T" they may help to settle the actual origin.--London Notes and Queries.

Eighth Annual Daytona Beach Speed Carnival
Exhibition Races and Time Trials
SPEED TOURNAMENT MARCH 15, 22, 23 AND 24, 1910
GENERAL INFORMATION
An admission fee of 25 cents each day will be charged all spectators within the enclosure to the races, both the exhibition and the record trials. The meet is not conducted as a money-making event, but the small charges are made to help meet the enormous expense of conducting the meets.
A fee of 50 cents will be charged all automobiles and carriages parking west of the clubhouse along Halifax avenue. The Florida East Coast Automobile Association has leased this property for the occasion and will exercise supervision over it.
Parking spaces for automobiles will be provided on the beach at $2.00 per day, or $5.00 for all the events in addition to the regular admission price. These spaces may be purchased in advance at Hankins' Drug store, and the purchasers will be entitled to the spaces which they select, the first applying to have the choice.
The Ocean Beach has been set aside as a race course March 15, and March 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26, 1910, and the Sheriff of Volusia County, and the Florida East Coast Automobile Association jointly will have charge of the same.
Those desiring to obtain privileges of selling refreshments in front of the clubhouse may apply to the Secretary.
No persons except officials will be allowed on the course during the races or while cars are being tried out and anyone disregarding this rule will be subject to arrest.
Owners of dogs are especially requested to keep the animals off the beach, as their presence would endanger the lives of drivers. Dogs found on the beach during the days of the events will be summarily shot.
Only members of the Florida East Coast Automobile Association, their immediate families and a limited number of guests are allowed access to the clubhouse. No male resident of Volusia County is eligible to be a guest.
All races will either start or finish in front of the grand stand.
Grand stand admission will be 25 cents, or boxes holding 6 persons may be secured for $3.00 per day. Tickets for boxes will be on sale at Hankins' drug store.
T. E. FITZGERALD, Secretary,

The Story of a Turtle's Meal.
A butterfly hunter tells the following story of swamp life:
"In the water right between my feet was a spotted turtle that had just captured an appetizing but by no means dainty morsel. This was a terrapin-like bug that was more than a mouthful. His body was already out of sight, but clawlike legs protruded from both sides of that isosceles triangle which a turtle's mouth makes when it is closed and waved a frantic farewell to the passing underwater world. The turtle was a long time in masticating his terrapin, but it was a happy time. His whole body blinked contentedly, and he waved his fore legs with a caressing outpush, a motion exactly like that of a child at the breast. Then he wagged his head solemnly from side to side, as a wise turtle might who feels that such good lunches are put up by fate only for the knowing ones of this watery world, and pushed himself halfway under the roots of a tussock for a nap."

A Daring Argument.
A quick witted and daring lawyer once saved a guilty client from sure conviction on a charge of poisoning. It was proved that the poisoning had been done by means of certain cakes, a portion of which was produced in court. When the counsel for the prisoner had finished his speech he said: "And these, gentlemen of the jury, are some of the alleged poisoned cakes. We declare to you, gentlemen of the jury, that they are not poisoned cakes. They are as harmless cakes as ever were made, and in order, gentlemen of the jury, to show you that these cakes are not poisoned I will eat one of them right here in your presence." And he did eat one. He took good care, however, to leave the room at the earliest opportunity and to make a bee line for an adjoining room, where he had an emetic in readiness and an antidote. But the jury never heard about the emetic or the antidote until the lawyer's client had been acquitted.

What He Saw.
"Do tell me something about Mr. Oldplot's latest play!" said the young lady on the bottom stair at the dance. "They say the climax at the close of the third act's superb. Won't you describe it to me as you saw it?" "I will," grimly consented the young man with the split white kid gloves. "The heroine came slowly on and knelt, dagger in hand, behind a clump of pink ribbons. Then the hero emerged from a large bunch of purple flowers, and as soon as she perceived him she fell upon him, stabbed him twice with a handsome hatpin, and he sank back into a beautiful aigret." "What in the world are you talking about?" exclaimed the fair listener. "Well," replied the narrator, "you see, the lady in front of me refused to move her hat, and that is just how the scene appeared to me."—London Scraps

One of Florence's Jokes.
That genial comedian W. J. Florence had a habit of promising a man a fish or some game when he was about starting on a hunting or fishing trip. Day after day would pass, and the game would not be forthcoming. But almost every day a letter or telegram would come saying that Florence had not forgotten; that Florence was just about sending the game; that there was no cause for worry, as a fine fish or deer was on its way to the express office. At first this solicitedness would cause courteous letters and telegrams in return. As the delay got longer the victim would get impatient and would finally be literally haunted by huge fishes or deer, "with the compliments of W. J. Florence." Then some fine day, when it was least expected, the fish or deer would come.

Quaint Hymns.
For unreality of sentiment in hymns we must go back to the eighteenth century. Here is an instance:
Ah, lovely appearance of death!
What sight upon earth is so fair?
Not all the gay innocents that breathe
Can with a dead body compare.
It seems strange that death should have been the occasion for a touch of unconscious humor in a hymn. In the collection entitled "Hymns, Ancient and Modern," there was and possibly still is the following verse:
They do not hear when the great bell
Is ringing overhead.
They cannot rise and come to church
With us—for they are dead.
The list of things which "they" are unable to do might be indefinitely extended.—London Chronicle.

Had to Walk.
The intoxicated gentleman stared in a bewildered manner at the sign on the bridge. The sign read, "Loads Must Not Be Taken Across the Bridge Faster Than a Walk."
After giving the sign profound study he observed:
"Don't see how fellows w'd loadsh can do better'n a walk now!"

A Disraeli Anecdote.
Sitting next Disraeli at dinner, Mrs. Jeune said that Lord Sherbrooke must be allowed one virtue—namely, his patient and affectionate behavior toward his wife. "Do you think," said Disraeli in his deep tone, "that he has ever seen her?"—"Memoirs of Lady St. Heller."

Scientific.
"Why did you get a divorce?"
"My wife poisoned my whole life."
"But you hastened to marry again?"
"Well, I had an antidote coming to me, didn't I?"—Cleveland Leader.

Virtue that parleys is near surrender.—French Proverb.

Some Curious Weathercocks.
The weathercock had its origin at a very early date. Marcus Vitruvius Pollia, a noted Roman architect and engineer, who was born about 80 B. C., in his works calls a vane a triton, probably because in his time it had the form of a triton. The usual form on towers, castles and secular buildings was that of a banner, but on ecclesiastical buildings it was a representation of the male of the barnyard fowl. There have been other forms of vane. The one over St. Peter's, Cornhill, London, is in the shape of a key; that over St. Mildred's church is a gilt ship under full sail. The grasshopper of the Royal Exchange, London, is the vane that formerly surmounted the former exchange. The dragon on the spire of Bow church, Cheapside, is another celebrated vane. One of Mother Shipton's prophecies was that when the dragon of Bow church and the grasshopper of the Royal Exchange should meet the streets of London would be deluged with blood. In what way they should meet the old dame did not explain, but it is known that at one time these two vanes were side by side in the yard of a stonemason in Old Street road, yet there was no shedding of blood.—London Answers.

Footie and the Lawyers.
Being on an excursion into his native county, Samuel Footie happened to meet with a simple minded farmer, who, having just buried a rich relation, who was an attorney, was full of complaints about the great expense of a country funeral, instancing the amount he had spent on scarfs, handkerchiefs, carriages, etc.
"Why," asked Footie, "do you mean to say that you bury your attorneys in this part of the country?"
"To be sure," said the puzzled farmer. "What else should we do?"
"Oh, we never do that in London."
"Really! What, then, do you do with them?"
"Why, when one happens to die we lay him out in a room by himself overnight, lock the door, open the window, and in the morning he is gone."
"Extraordinary!" cried the other in amazement. "What becomes of him?"
"Oh, that we can't exactly tell," replied Footie solemnly. "All we know is there's a strong smell of brimstone in the rooms the next morning."—"Wits, Beaux and Beauties of the Georgian Era."

The Breeches Bible.
One of the books which a bibliomaniac handles reverently is the famous Geneva Bible, better known as the "Breeches Bible." This name is due to the rendering of Genesis iii. 7, where Adam and Eve are said to have "sewed fig tree leaves together and made themselves breeches." This had been the reading of the first English Bible, Wycliffe's version, but later translators had substituted the word "apron" for "breeches," and the Geneva Bible reverted to the original. The fact that only one edition of the Geneva version contained this sentence makes the limited number more precious to the book gatherer. The title page of this edition announces that it was "imprinted at London by the deputies of the queen's most excellent majesty" in 1590. The first edition appeared in 1560, and for sixty years this was the favorite Bible with the people, who reluctantly laid it aside for the authorized version in 1611.

The Same Dimensions.
The bride to be had the air of one who is unreconciled to the existing state of affairs. "Can't we take a wedding trip, as we planned?" she asked plaintively.
"Not just now," said the young man, "on account of my partner's illness."
"I thought it would be such fun, taking that six days' journey in the cars!" she sighed.
"Well, now, see here," said the young man. "If we take the flat I looked at yesterday it'll be just the same as living in the parlor car state-room, except that the scenery won't change."—Youth's Companion.

The Book For Him.
There was a backward student at Balliol who for failure to pass an examination in Greek was "sent down." His mother went to see the master, Dr. Jowett, and explained to him what an excellent lad her son was. "It is a hard experience for him, this disgrace," said the old lady, "but he will have the consolation of religion, and there is always one book to which he can turn." Jowett eyed her a moment and then answered: "Yes, madam, the Greek grammar. Good morning."

The Judge's Slip.
A judge once made the following charge to a jury: "You have heard the evidence. The indictment charges the prisoner with stealing a jackass. This offense seems to be becoming a common one, and the time has come when it must be stopped or none of us will be safe!"

The Test.
"Well—But how is a girl to know when she is in love? Belle—I suppose when she thinks as much about a man as she does about her dressmaker she may know it."—Philadelphia Record.

Entrancing View.
"What do you think of the view from the hotel veranda?"
"Magnificent! I can see four hair-esses right from where I sit."—Pittsburg Post.

He Dared.
Mother—How dared you let him kiss you? Daughter—I didn't, mamma. I told him that if he kissed me he'd have to do it without my consent.—Exchange.
